Hooray for Hari's

The entertainment world has Brangelina, TomKat and GyllenSpoon, but it's the stellar couplings of London's beauty stratosphere that have got us hyperventilating. Now you may not catch our fair city's hottest duo on the pages of Heat, but HarWin [that's Hari of Brompton Road Mecca Hari's and top session stylist cum creative director Zoe Irwin] more than deserve their column inches. Top of our 'to try list' for April is the 'Fashion Nails' collaboration between La Irwin, Jemima Frost and Nuno Da Costa. Think the 'new' French – that's Jemima's French to you – with a buttermilk base and punky black tip, and the pièce de la resistance, Embellished, which takes this season's catwalk fling with bling and translates it into tips that drip with rainbow-coloured jewels. Wow-ee. Once you've been dipped, it's time to get crushed, with Zoe's Colour

Crush menu, which cherry-picks the latest catwalk colour trends for love-at-first-sight locks. We're particularly enamoured of The No Colour Colour and the grunge-rooted Cobain Chic. HarWin... we ♥ you!

Hari's is offering Urban Junkies readers 10% off both services throughout April 2009. Please quote 'Urban Junkies' on booking. Fashion Nails cost from £25. Colour Crush from £100. 020 7581 5211

Bag Lady

We love our men, but let's face it: they're never going to provide an honest answer to the loaded bottom question, or, for that matter, valid insight into which eyeshadow will perk up our peepers. Which is why it pays to solicit the pros. And Harvey Nichols' lovely Lauren Hersheshon is your woman. She'll ruthlessly root through your make-up bag, vetoing dated shades and imperfect formulas and share her top cosmetic cheats, which is when I learned how to make my chubby cheeks look 'chiselled' in five minutes flat. Once I'd been peeled off the floor that is.

Lauren Hersheshon is offering Urban Junkies readers 10% off services throughout April 2009. An appointment costs from £70. Call 0207 201 8797 to make an appointment.
